

Super Adrenal Stress Formula®
by Future Formulations

"I created Super Adrenal Stress Formula® to provide an optimal combination of the specific nutrients essential for: 1) supporting adrenal function during times of stress and 2) promoting normal adrenal hormone production."* Dr. James L. Wilson

Stress is a nutrient hog. Every time you experience stress, from too little sleep to too little money, your adrenal glands must respond by producing adrenal hormones such as adrenaline, cortisol, estrogen, testosterone and many others that keep you alive, energized and healthy. Hormone production requires nutrients, specific nutrients that the average diet does not supply nearly enough of to balance stressful lifestyles.* Stress can deplete the nutrient reserves in your adrenal glands and fatigue your overworked adrenals. The resulting reduced adrenal hormone production can make you not only tired, irritable, and less able to cope with further stress, but also more likely to experience other unpleasant effects that normal levels of these adrenal hormones usually prevent. Super Adrenal Stress Formula® provides a precisely formulated combination of nutrients your adrenal glands need to help promote normal adrenal hormone production and adrenal function so you can stay healthy, even when stress is chomping at your heels.
